What is Virtual Learning?

Virtual learning; online school; or remote work, is a educational learning environment utilizing technology and web-based platforms to deliver instruction to students.

What are the differences between virtual and in-person?

The main difference between the two is the ability to dialogue through verbal and nonverbal language. Also virtual learning places a focus on a student's individual ability to organize, navigate and produce work for upwards of seven classes per day. While virtual meetings have found to be beneficial for specific problems, in-person allows for a more communicative, less isolated, group-forward atmosphere that benefits students' professional and social lives.

V/N Collegiate & Student Mentoring

V/N Collegiate Associates offers a variety of middle and high school educational services. With 2020 - and virtual school - in the rearview, now is the time to start thinking of getting back on track with your educational goals. Here at V/N Collegiate, we offer educational mentoring services aimed at focusing your child in their learning plan.

Student mentoring services are a key to your child's success in their transition from virtual school to in-person learning. With our mentoring service, we meet twice weekly, typically on a Monday and Friday, for thirty (30) minutes to discuss the school day and focus on helping your child create systems of organization and time management to better handle their compounding workload from school and extracurriculars. A certified educator will sit with your child assisting them in filing and ordering tasks, setting up work and study times, and general educational questions or concerns. Each session builds upon the last and is rooted in your child's weekly school curriculum. Our mentoring sessions are the building block for continued academic growth.
